

Hack 4 Career E-Book is Available

written by Mert SARICA | 5 December 2020

With the motto of "Knowledge is power and grows as it is shared", I created my blog in 2009, and until today, I have tried to provide many technical write-ups to raise awareness of information security. Starting in January 2015, I decided to compile all of my write-ups into e-books on a yearly basis, and share them with cybersecurity enthusiasts.

As the end of the year approaches, I converted all the blog posts I wrote in 2020, including December's post, into e-books. Those who are interested can download all of these e-books separately from

I hope that the research that I have done with my effort, time and resources by writing these write-ups will be useful for those who want to improve themselves in the field of cybersecurity.

I wish a happy new year to all my readers, and I wish that 2021 will bring health first, happiness and success to them and all their loved ones.
